Possibly the submarine commanders believe that if they look after the sinking the government will look after the apologizing.

The talk of the early appearance of crocuses interests the small boy because the word looks so much like circuses.

Auto-intoxication is when the tire has a blowout and the horn is on a toot.

It's funny how empty a man's conversation is when he is full.

Patent cotton pickers are to supplant hand labor in the south.

The assessors will soon start in on their work. Are you planning to fool 'em?

Don't worry about the high price of gasoline—if you are not the owner of an auto.

An exchange argues that if brevity is the soul of wit, the spring costumes must be awfully funny.

HOIST THE FLAG

The dominion government is issuing an order that the flag must be flown at the masthead of all government buildings in Canada on the anniversary of the battle of St. Julien, April the 23rd. The wish is expressed that the anniversary of the day when the Canadian First Division won undying honor for themselves and for Canada, should be generally observed.

TRY GETTING MARRIED FIRST

Khaki weddings of non-commissions and privates are becoming too numerous for the militia department at Ottawa. The department says that many recruits have married since enlistment without permission and are claiming separation allowance. The applications are being refused on the ground that the separation allowance was intended to provide for the families of married men who had enlisted as such and whose families would otherwise have been in want or become a heavy burden on the patriotic fund.

Do Tell the Attractions

No doubt E. will be a frequent visitor to Chinook hereafter.

No Good to Sonny Alberta—Yet

William Auld and Howey Dierch arrived home from Boston, Mass. Single, of course.

There May Be a Reason

Sam arrived home last week. It seems as though these bachelors are not tired of bacheling yet.

Reward for Faithful Student

It is rumored that the postoffice is to be moved two miles south-east to a student who has been attendant in Tavishville institution for two months.

Some Shorthorn Association, This

It appears as if Collholme Purebred Shorthorn Association, which was organized last year, has met with the approval of John Bright, five stock commissioner to secure a shorthorn bull by the 1st of May.

Has Been a Faithful Servant

We regret that our present postmaster has sent in his resignation, which has been accepted. He has held office for four years, and satisfied the public, which is saying a whole lot. We trust his successor will be as faithful as the present postmaster has been.

Leaves With General Regret of All

We express the general regret of the whole neighborhood, that Miss Rodgers, our faithful and popular school teacher, has left us to take up teaching at Chinook. Great and genuine sorrow was shown by her pupils here at her departure. We wish her every success in her new district.

When dreams come true, it is usually because the dreamer gets out and hustles for what he dreams about.

Chinook Breezes

L. K. Sully of Cereal was a Chinook visitor Saturday.

The roads are now in a pretty good condition at time of writing but all may be quickly changed.

The farmers' busy spring season has commenced—preparing for another bumper crop.

M. J. Evans of Rearville has decided to give up farming, and has rented his farm. He will work for his brother at Big Stone.

Will Celebrate May 24th

Clemens will celebrate May 24 this year. Bills will be printed at this office announcing the big list of attractions. Keep Clemens celebration in mind for Victoria Day.

Farmers' Complaint of Prices

The opening of the National Co.'s elevator at Chinook has brought in a large number of farmers with their loads of grain. But, dear me, what is a 30,000 bushel capacity for the quantity of wheat still in the hands of the farmers in this district?

Now, Sonnies, Listen!

Complaint has been made that you are riding your bikes on the sidewalks, and that the council have been appealed to to pass a by-law to prohibit you doing this. Now, boys, don't force the council to do it, but use the roads, or as sure as eggs are eggs there'll be trouble.

Well Satisfied

Geo. S. Johnson's sale drew a large crowd, and the bidding was brisk, horses fetching top-notch prices, notwithstanding the large number of horses that have been sold in this district during the past few weeks, and for good figures, too. Everything was sold for big prices, much beyond Mr. Johnson's expectations. J. M. Davis was the successful auctioneer.

Peculiar Accident

HAPPENS TO A YOUNG BULL

Last week while conveying four young registered short horn bulls in a wagon to Geo. S. Johnson's Sale, it appears that one of the animals was knocked off its feet when the wagon bumped into a pitch-hole. Arriving at Johnson's Mr. Todd saw the animal down, but thought nothing of it, until he went to get it out of the wagon the bull could not stand on its legs, and seemed paralyzed, and had to left in the wagon. It was given two or three doses, Mr. Todd thinking it was suffering from some little ailment. The next morning the animal was dead. It is supposed that the sudden jolt threw the bull with a heavy thud, causing a fatal internal injury.

A Closed Season

BADLY NEEDED FOR THIS CHAP

In the local legislature last week a motion was introduced by one of the members, calling for a closed season for prairie chickens. But there is something vastly more important than the prairie chicken for which a closed season is needed, and that is the person or persons who are prowling around and shooting neighbors' cattle and horses. Two or three weeks ago a farmer's cow was shot and killed a few miles east of here, and now word comes that two farmers' horses were shot north of here. This is not like British fair play, but rather savors Hunish frightfulness, and should be put down with the strong arm of the law.

A Painful Accident

GETS A BROKEN LEG

When about a mile or so south of Chinook, on his way home, on Saturday afternoon, Mr. Moran met with a very painful accident. It seems that he was sitting on a couple of pieces of ship-lap on the seat of his wagon, and was in the act of changing his position when the wagon seat slipped off carrying him with it, the wheel of the wagon going over his leg, breaking the bone above the ankle. Medical aid was sent for and it was with some difficulty that the bone was set, owing to the swollen condition of the limb, some four days or more having elapsed after the accident had occurred. He is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

CANADA NOW RECRUITING AT THE RATE OF A THOUSAND MEN DAILY

125,000 MEN HAVE ALREADY BEEN SENT OVERSEAS

Recruiting to Continue Until We Have Defeated Germany and Prussianism, and if Necessary Canada Will Send a Million Men to Save World's Civilization.

In a recent interview given to a correspondent of the New York Times Major-General Sir Sam Hughes gives some interesting facts concerning the work of recruiting. He said in part: "So far, I think, Canada has done her share and will keep right on to the finish. We are recruiting at the rate of a thousand men a day. We have sent 125,000 men overseas already and have 125,000 more on their way. That is the chief difficulty of our problem in Canada, getting the transportation for the men, and the men are prepared and equipped to go. Of the 125,000 men who have gone to England 60,000 are now in the trenches, and they are doing splendid work. There are no better troops than the Canadians in the war. Our losses have been approximately 10,000.

"The entire Dominion is divided into ten militia districts. That is not a measure, but a part of the machinery for recruiting that has been in force for many years, and it has been adequate to the emergency of war. We have 15,000 men in our regular militia before the war, but the law prohibited the government from sending the militia overseas, so we began the organization of the overseas expeditionary force. We have 15,000 men in the militia, for the most part, sent from the stay-at-home troops over to the new force. We have 15,000 men in the militia, for the most part, sent from the stay-at-home troops over to the new force. We have 15,000 men in the militia, for the most part, sent from the stay-at-home troops over to the new force.

"It has not been necessary to open new recruiting stations. The preliminary work of getting the men is carried on in each of the ten districts by the regular or militia organization of each province, and the response is so loyal and spontaneous that, as I have already said, we are now men are enlisting at the rate of a thousand a day for the entire Dominion. We have sent 125,000 men overseas already and have 125,000 more on their way. That is the chief difficulty of our problem in Canada, getting the transportation for the men, and the men are prepared and equipped to go. Of the 125,000 men who have gone to England 60,000 are now in the trenches, and they are doing splendid work. There are no better troops than the Canadians in the war. Our losses have been approximately 10,000.

"General Hughes shares the opinion of the rest of the officers of the army, expressed by Sir Robert Borden, the prime minister, and by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the opposition leader, that the war is only in its early stages, that England has been obliged to devote the first two years of hostilities to getting ready.

"This recruiting," he said, "is going to continue until we have defeated Germany and crushed Prussia. There are in Canada 1,000,000 men of fighting age, that is, between 18 and 45—and they will all go if the need comes."

"Do you think it will be necessary to call for men older than 45?" "No; we will have Germany thoroughly trimmed before that time comes."

"Has Canada any slackers?" "Not many; not enough to interfere with what we must do. The response is very general everywhere, depending, of course, somewhat, upon the industrial conditions of any given locality. In factory towns where manufacturing plants are running overtime and calling for help in the work of getting out war munitions, we do not expect to get as many men in proportion to population as we do in the rural districts or in non-manufacturing communities. But in this situation, the poor, the French and the English Canadians, and even the Indians, are all coming out to help Canada and the rest of civilization. The employers of labor in the country are giving their men leave of absence, with pay, to serve in the overseas forces, and nearly every woman and child in the Dominion is doing something for the welfare of the war effort. Some are fighting or for the support of the families left at home.

"What Canada is doing is raising a trained democratic army. Both of the adjectives I have used, trained and democratic, are of the utmost importance in understanding this situation. Our strength, up to a million and three-quarters of men, if necessary, will be in a volunteer army, citizens, every man trained in modern methods of warfare. And the lesson of all history is that the democratic

Dry Soldiering

203rd Battalion Bans the Use of Liquor in Its Ranks

The popularity of "Dry Soldiering" has been demonstrated beyond question by the results of a poll in the response to a call for recruits in the 203rd Battalion. In his address to the recruits, the officer commanding, Lt. Col. J. E. Hunsford, said that the battalion was a "dry" battalion, and that the use of liquor was prohibited. He said that the battalion was a "dry" battalion, and that the use of liquor was prohibited. He said that the battalion was a "dry" battalion, and that the use of liquor was prohibited.

Many of those who have flocked to join the 203rd Battalion in this new battalion, have stated that the fact that the battalion is to be always "out of bounds" for members, has been the one point of preference most outstanding and influencing them in their selection of leadership.

The 203rd was originally heralded as the "Alcohol Battalion." This, however, was an error, as its ranks are dry. It is a "dry" battalion, and that the entire Western Canada organization of the Methodist church is selling the recruiting scheme, and its long-reaching effectiveness is already bearing fruit.

Lt. Col. J. E. Hunsford, of the 203rd, said that the battalion was a "dry" battalion, and that the use of liquor was prohibited. He said that the battalion was a "dry" battalion, and that the use of liquor was prohibited. He said that the battalion was a "dry" battalion, and that the use of liquor was prohibited.

For those enlisting now arrangements have been made that they may be sent overseas for both training and service, which is a big consideration to farmers' sons who are thus afforded the opportunity of doing double service for their king and country.

Those interested in the particular details of the 203rd Battalion may write or wire the Winnipeg headquarters in the Great West Building, or to the 203rd Battalion, which will be forwarded without delay, and transportation arranged to the nearest train.

The anonymity of writers is a strange case of a man who wrote articles on fashion.

One of the standing subjects of New York remarks among New York theatre goers are the weekly articles on men's fashions, published over the name of "Beau Brummel."

These articles, which are written by a woman, while others believe him to be merely a haberdasher with a drug habit, have done much to make the name of "Beau Brummel" a household word. The name of "Beau Brummel" is a household word. The name of "Beau Brummel" is a household word.

The case of "Beau Brummel" is merely funny. But here is a grim and pitiful little tragedy which is in a way related to it. In a small town in the western and northwestern part of the province, a young man named John Brummel, son of a well-to-do family, died of a heart attack.

John Bull Young Again

From an Address by Lloyd George to the Munition Workers

What has been accomplished in the munition works is an illustration of what Britons can do under pressure. Only a few weeks ago they were turning out munition here, I believe, and catching dab-chicks in the stream. (Laughter). Now you have got these magnificent works, all within a few weeks and there (pointing to the shells) is the result. There is your 12-inch and there is your 8-inch, and there is your heavy howitzer, all essential to victory in the field. I am not underestimating these gallant men at the front, but I think that the work which you are doing and are about to do in the course of the next few weeks is worth an army of corps of the best infantry. (Cheers). You have no notion what you are doing. There you are doing. There you are doing. There you are doing.

official message ordering him to be in his consulting room at seven o'clock. Promptly on the hour the victim of toothache and two other officers prepared. The patient took the dental chair, and his comrades, drawing their revolvers, threatened the unfortunate dentist with instant death if he inflicted unnecessary pain!

As the use of all firearms by Belgians is forbidden throughout the country, German officers have confiscated sporting guns, fowling shotguns, and in some cases offered the guns at fabulous prices to the real owners of the premises.

Pines simply shiver on the un-lucky Belgians. An unguarded word in a cafe, a sharp retort to a soldier, an "insulting" glance at an officer, and the offenders are promptly arrested and as promptly fined.

"Why do you call me a Boche?" asked the young girl sent to a prison to a friend, making use of the phrase "When these murderers are gone" and "Anyone who is not a patriot is a Boche."

The letter being intercepted, she was arrested and heavily fined. "Why do you call me a Boche?" asked the young girl sent to a prison to a friend, making use of the phrase "When these murderers are gone" and "Anyone who is not a patriot is a Boche."

"Why, because you are Boches," retorted the young girl spiritedly. "You look like Boches, you speak like Boches, and you act like Boches."

"I've a good mind to send you to Germany," said the angry commandant. "Where the Boches come from?" asked the girl pleasantly.

She was doubly fined, but, as she said, "I'm a patriot!" "It was well worth the money."

Belgium is full of German troops. In the words of a Dutch writer, "You can see German soldiers as soon as you reach Baschen (just over the frontier). They pack the road to the front. They are everywhere. They are everywhere. They are everywhere."

"No, he opened up a repair shop, and if he owned a car he wouldn't have time to ride to the front."

Mrs. Newell had been told by her husband that a certain doctor had "wound up with great effect." When her husband came home she asked him, "What was the result?" "Desert, I guess," said Newell. "Didn't you ever eat a chocolate salad?"

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine—Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Cranston, Wis.—"When I was 18 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I gave it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—MRS. MAYNARD ASHCH, North Cranston, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma. Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all the women I know because it has done so much for me."—MRS. A. L. McCLARY, 509 Half St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman. Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down, pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine, but I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—MRS. B. M. OSOON, 1 Haverhill Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A MEDLEY OF SPRING COATS

VARIETY in style, design and color is surely the feature of the coats offered for springtime. This fact makes it quite easy for every woman to find something to suit her needs.

Women who admire leather trimming on their garments will be glad to see that the material is in greater vogue than ever. All colors are used. A very effective result is gained by using dark leather on a light material. The cream-colored rajah coat is beautified by the long strip of soft green suede extending from the neck to the hem, piping the collar and cuffs and forming a belt effect around the sides and back of coat.

Joseph's coat of many colors must have inspired the designer of the cream-colored coat showing the odd use of contrasting colors. The unusual sleeve, with its sub cuff and the clever placing of bands of tussor to form stripes, is a point that should be heeded.

Every time a new season comes round it brings with it a generous supply of plaids, but, as a rule, the plaids are of brilliant colors. As a change, here is a coat which boasts of the fashionable pattern depicted in somber blue relieved by white silk lines forming blocks. The pockets at either side of the front are lined with white kid and are finished with crowsfeet embroidered in white. A white kid collar and white buttons add a pleasing touch.

Never have stripes been brought to the front so prominently as they are this season. Very chic and "springy" is the broadly striped gray-and-white flannel coat. One can spend many minutes figuring in just which direction the stripes run at various points of the wrap.

An important feature of many coats is the introduction of a cape. There is such variety in the placing of the capes that it is difficult to say just which style is most favored. A very unusual whim of fashion is the joining of the cape to the coat at the collar top. Blue duvetyne is the material chosen for the garment showing the cape effect. The cape, by the way, is embroidered in self color.

Add a topcoat to your wardrobe so that you will be ready for the weather which does not call for a heavy wrap and yet will not permit one to go without a light-weight coat.
